
CATS ILLUSTRATED

Rudyjudy causes a popcorn chain reaction!

Image above - Harvey, who thinks the whole thing was ridiculous.

The video of this is on YouTube on the Tinykittens channel, called "sienna causes a popcorn chain reaction"

Yesterday, at 4:26 A.M the most amazing thing happened. Rudyjudy slipped after jumping up on top of the cupboard, and she caused a popcorn chain reaction.

"This is the most ridiculous thing that I've seen in a while," says Judy, "I have never seen such a cool chain reaction as that. I just hope Rudyjudy is okay after that fall..."

Cats have come knocking on North's door saying that "who knew behaviorist could jump like that", and then bursting out laughing. Harvey knows how to keep the jokes down, after years of experience. Any cat who mentions what his reaction was when Makenna jumped into his cupboard will get a strong cuff around the ear and a wardrobe full of Harvey's dirty underwear.

"I'm surprised Reposado didn't react more when I jumped over them," says Makenna, who evacuated her spot when North came careening out of the bed. "He didn't move a muscle, and he was the only one who didn't continue the reaction."

Meanwhile, Rudyjudy has been sleeping behind her chubby forelegs because she feels guilty and embarrassed that she started the chain reaction by jumping and slipping off the top of the cupboards. Ice, Rudyjudy's mate has been trying to comfort her. He is just outside of the vision of the image on the right. Rudyjudy needs all the comfort she can get right now.

"This is one of the best cat videos of all time," says Chester the Furmeowdible, who was the undefeated champion of Chubby wrestling for 5 years until Mavis came and beat him to dust. "This will be shown to cats of many generations, this incredible video."

Reposado, who got the best view of the chain reaction has posted a video of it. The video has 50 million views already, which is more than half the population of cats in the world. That is ridiculous - the most viewed video on catTube has 50,000,126 views, just surpassing the chain reaction video. Wait no... More cats have watched the video, and now there are 52 million views.

"This would seem so funny - if it hadn't happened to me!"

- NORTH, WHO JUMPED AS IF CATAPULTED WHEN RUDYJUDY LANDED ON HIS BED

This incident was extraordinary - any cat would be lucky to see it. This video is going to spread like a plague, and Rudyjudy, Harvey, and all the other cats who were part of this event will become famous among cats, and maybe even among humans.

Now there are fifty three million views on this extraordinary chain reaction video. It was probably the coolest thing that most cats have seen in their lifetime.

You're just getting into some of the best stories of catkind! Subscribe again to read more!

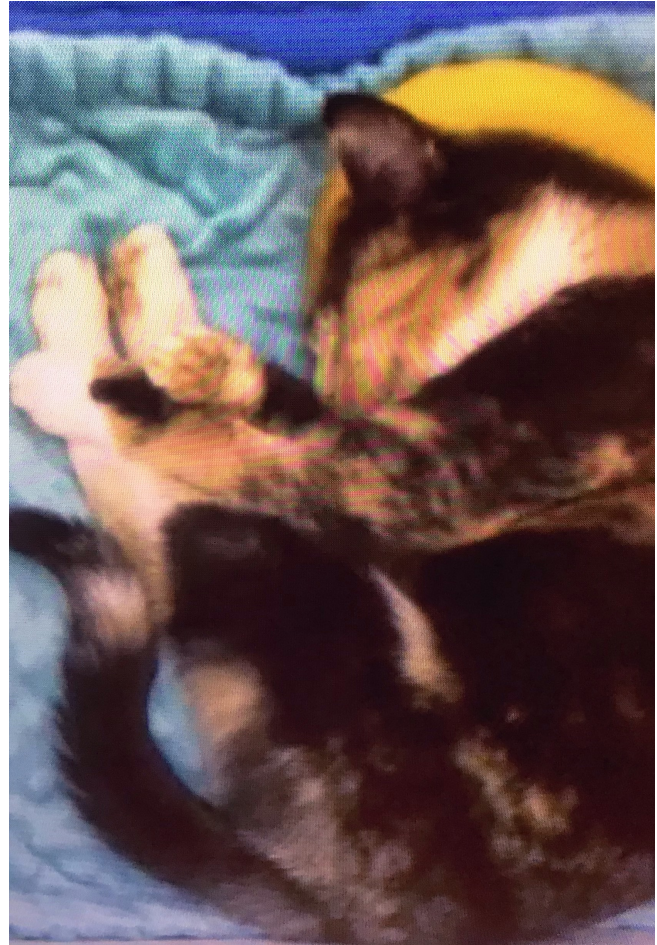

Image above - Rudyjudy sleeping behind her Chubby forelegs.

