

CATS ILLUSTRATED

Has Harvey fallen in love again?

Earlier yesterday, Harvey was seen all dressed up, as if he was going on a date. There is no actual video evidence, but Harvey was gone for a while, until after 11:00 P.M. Could Harvey actually be in love again?

Image above - Harvey all dressed up for a possible date.

“Judging on how defensive Harvey got when I teased him about staying up late,” North, a multi species behaviorist says, “I have some guesses about this. Harvey made the mistake to forget that I can guess what most of his peculiar behaviors mean because I’m a behaviorist. In fact, I can just about do that for any random cat! I’d bet that there is at least a 75% chance that Harvey has found another love judging on how he has been acting recently.”

A security camera recorded 2 cats walking side by side last night, one of them with 3 legs, and the other with all 4. A whole lot of cats have seen this recording and decided that they thought that Harvey was one of those cats. The she - cat has been identified as Makenna, whose picture is on the right.

"I have noticed that Makenna and Harvey have been spending a lot of time together recently, but I never thought that they could be in love," says Rudyjudy, who lives in the same room as Harvey, Makenna, North, Reposado, and Coffee. "It's really nice to see Harvey connect with another cat!"

Harvey has always been a very handsome cat, and with 3 legs, most cats would underestimate him. When another cat or a fox or a badger or any other creature came to try and attack the kits that he was raising, Harvey would drive it back on his own. Harvey has always had a fierce loyalty to all cats, and he loved to learn.

Makenna is just nearing 7 years old, but she has always been a strong cat. She and Harvey are the perfect match - Harvey is fast, but he can be clumsy. Makenna is strong, and she can keep Harvey steady. Together they would make a formidable fighting team.

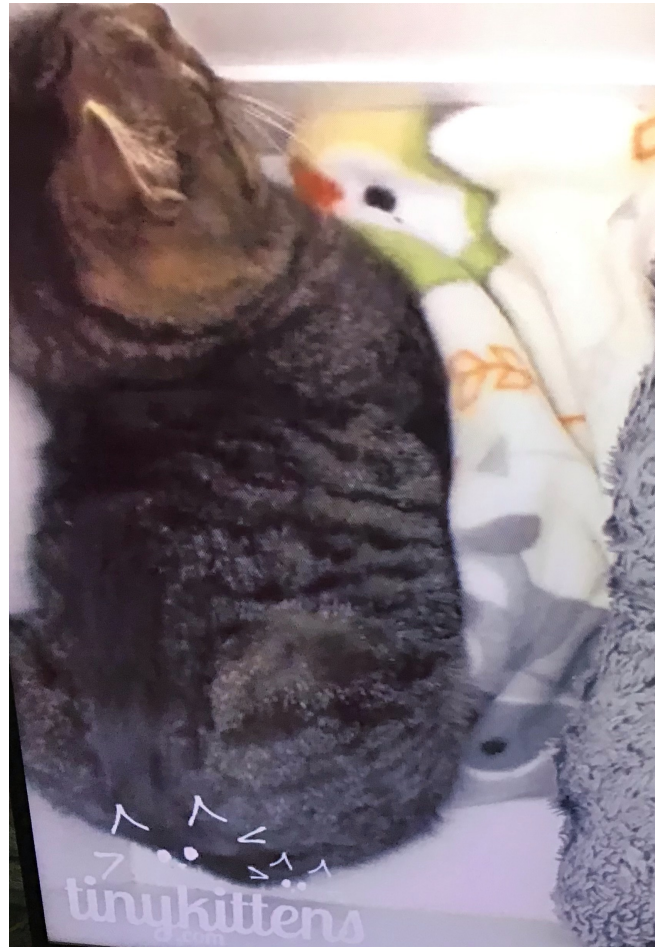

Image above - Makenna in a cupboard.

"This morning when Harvey woke up, he was in a great mood and he made me my favorite waffles," North says, "Harvey hasn't made me those waffles in a year at least, but he still puts in too much sugar! It feels great to see that Harvey feels better these days, his spirits seem to have lifted when he started to fall in love with Makenna."

"Harvey was strong and nimble enough in his youth to make 4 legged cats jealous!"

- LEMON, WHO WENT TO THE SAME SCHOOL AS HARVEY

Every cat has been feeling great since Harvey started feeling great. Harvey has lifted the spirits of a lot of cats, which feels good.

Subscribe again to hear more about

Harvey's newfound love!