Harvey has been seen being petted!

After some serious information digging, a photo has been found of Harvey being petted. Harvey was very content at the time, and this has raised the concern/thought that Harvey might not want to go back to the wild.

“I wouldn’t go as far to believe that Harvey wants to be adopted,” says North, a multi species behaviorist and Harvey’s son, “I’d say that Harvey would be okay with being adopted.”

Makenna, Harvey’s confirmed love, has expressed her opinion that if Harvey is going to be adopted, she would like to be adopted too. Harvey will need company from cats if he is to be adopted into a human family. The thought of Harvey being adopted alone haunts North and Makenna at night. When the press got ahold of this video though, a team of reporters was sent to Harvey’s home to interview him about the video. Harvey did not answer the door. When North paid him a visit in the afternoon, Harvey was looking embarrassed as if he had been taped doing something that many cats were concerned about. North and Harvey talked about how they had both been stroked by humans, and how embarrassing it could feel when it was on tape. Harvey has just noticed that his conversation with North has been being recorded. He is stalking toward the window where I am hiding with the camera. I am running away. Harvey is chasing me. I stop recording.

In the photo on the left, Harvey, North, and Rudyjudy are butt to butt to butt. “I don’t want that to be the last silly photo we take,” says Rudyjudy emotionally, “I wanted to try a pyramid with 3 cats, but if Harvey gets adopted, we can’t do that!”

A lot of cats have taken a hard hit with the thought that Harvey might be adopted and taken away forever, especially Harvey’s friends and family. “Harvey makes that best waffles for North,” exclaims Reposado, “and North gives me what he can’t eat! North could eat the waffles forever, but he has to leave at 7:30 in the morning for behaviorist business. He usually leaves me a third of the waffles - 4. But if Harvey isn’t there to make them, well then no waffles for anyone!”

“When I go out secretly to buy alcohol, I always make sure that Harvey can watch my kittens,” says Juliet, who is supposed have given up alcohol, “I always come back to find my kittens tucked into bed, and a warm dinner waiting for me when I come back! Harvey’s the best kittensitter that a mother can ask for!”

“All cats have been stroked or petted by humans some time in their lives!”

“When Reposado started to play rough with me,” says Coffee, Harvey’s late son, “Harvey taught me a move that even Reposado didn’t know! Reposado still hasn’t figured out how I do it! Harvey makes sure that I feel safe in my home!”

A lot of cats don’t want Harvey to be adopted for many different reasons. When Harvey heard about all the cats who loved and depended on him, he decided not to try for adoption.
