
CATS ILLUSTRATED

The “Oh my gosh o look at Judy” video has gone viral!

A certain video - the “Oh my gosh o look at Judy” has suddenly gone viral on catTube. Judy, the cat in the video has claimed not to have done anything to it since the video was posted a few months ago. The person who filmed this video is still unknown.

Image above - one of the scenes from the video.

This video went from 1,892 views, 113 likes, and 8 dislikes to 4,097,881 views, 270,156 likes, and 321 dislikes! That is the biggest change recorded ever on catTube, even bigger than any of Harvey’s viral videos. This video is far from the most viewed video, though.

No cat knows for sure why this video has gone viral. Everyone just said that it was “cute” before, and now those same people are saying that it is awesome. Maybe it is because Lemon, the king of cats and also a very paranoid cat actually was one of the first cats to view this video again, after his odd behavioral change that even puzzles North. Maybe he sparked every cat’s interests?

Judy admits to the press that she thinks that the video is pretty good, and she is in a cute sleeping position. “Who knew a video like this would go viral, I mean like anyone could have taken a video like this,” she stops to think, “unfortunately, someone hacked into my account to post this, and I’m not very happy about that, because I have already given up on finding the real person who posted this video.”

Judy’s catTube account has suddenly gained 1,081 subscribers, which is 1,079 more than before, because Mavis gets paid a cabbage a week if she subscribes and Stripy is nice so she just does it. There are hundreds of comments about how Judy should try to make another catTube video. Judy actually came up with one, and it is on the right. This one only got 9,045 views, 73 likes, and 112 dislikes.

Image above - a scented from Judy’s next video.

Judy’s sisters however, have gotten jealous and are starting to take catTube more seriously. Mavis is still posting from whatever hideaway she is in with Naya, and Juliet and Rudy have been racing for the beauty parlors. Stripy’s channel already has 600,000 subscribers, because Stripy’s channel is for cooking casseroles, but even she is going to try and up her game.

Naya is the only one of Judy’s sisters who does not care about her channel on catTube. Naya is a “troll”, which is basically a cat who is on the internet just to annoy other cats. Naya takes great pride in her role, and even the other “trolls” respect her.

“Judy got lucky with the first video, but the second one and on are going to be crap!”

- NAYA, WHO POSTED THIS AS SHE AND MAVIS ARE HIDING OUT FROM AUTHORITIES

“I don’t usually leave likes on videos, especially the “good ones” but the “Oh my gosh o look at Judy” video was actually pretty good,” says Harvey, who you could call a catTube video critic, “I’ve never seen anything like it on catTube, which is why I liked it.”

Subscribe again to hear more about Judy and her catTube videos!