

CATS ILLUSTRATED

Juliet wants to give her milk to help another kitten!

Juliet, in an attempt to get more Kudo's, is giving away her milk to a kitten who needs it in exchange for Kudo's. Many cats are appalled about the giving away milk part, because what kitten needs it more than her kittens! However, Juliet's kittens are nearly weaned, and so she has some extra milk available. Also, cats are not happy about how Juliet is still eating Kudo's. She needs to stop, before she gets some disease caused by all of the salt, sugar, and fat in the Kudo's. However, cats are worried that Juliet will stop giving away her milk if there are no Kudo's to trade for. That would not help the poor kitten, because it will need milk for a while, at least 10 more bottles until it is weaned. If Juliet pulls out now, that kitten's caretakers will have to find another solution.

Image above - Juliet looking out the window, looking for the cats that she'll trade milk for Kudo's with.

However, Kudo's need to stop being part of the deal. Mavis has tracked down the male cats and informed them that they should not give Juliet any more Kudo's, but she would still find a way to get milk for their kitten. The cats nodded and vanished into a nearby bush, which seemed to be serving as the kitten's home. It would do for now, but once the kitten got a little older, those male cats would have to find it a nice home in a good neighborhood.

However, Reposado had an idea. She put Juliet's kittens to bed early, and then made Juliet a milkshake. Reposado secretly put in a drug to make Juliet fall asleep, but Reposado is a good actor, and Juliet drank the whole thing, talking about how Kudo's weren't so good for her. And then, once she was asleep, Reposado did the farmer's job and milked her. She got 10 full bottles, which she chucked into a fridge and then gave the fridge to Mavis, who would give it to the male cats. Juliet was sleeping peacefully after the drug, and the only thing she would notice in the morning was a lighter belly. So, it would solve the problem. The male cats got their milk, Juliet didn't have a way anymore to get Kudo's, but Reposado would still watch her just in case.

Image above - Juliet sleeping peacefully after being milked.

“Please let this be the end of mama's addiction to Kudo's!”

- WILBUR SPOTS, ONE OF JULIET'S KITTENS

When Juliet woke up in the morning, she decided to give her kittens a special time to suckle. Maybe just one last time, until she didn't let them suckle anymore. The feeling of kittens suckling at her belly was over. Her kittens were growing up, and they needed to get totally used to regular food. So, after a hearty breakfast, she called them over to tell them her plan. All of her kittens were happy, of course, but they were sad that this might be the last time they ever suckled their mama. So, her kittens got down and started suckling for the last time. But Juliet knew something was wrong, as soon as Wilbur Spots said, “Mama, you don't have any milk left for us!”

Subscribe again to hear about how Juliet will take this!