

CATS ILLUSTRATED

Mavis is sending Juliet to check out Lemon's weapon!

Mavis, curious about Lemon's so called weapon that Annie told her about, is sending Juliet to check it out. Mavis chose Juliet to make her feel important, and to make up for milking her secretly. Until she returns, there will be a quarantine for all cats in the city, for fear of falcon risk. Harvey still has his new therapy office for cats, and he is trying to still continue with sessions. However, Naya, Mavis's sister, has left to go to a safer area, and is actually taking one of Mavis's kittens with her. One of Naya's kittens is in Mavis's kittens' room, and he is hiding out in the closet for fun. Mavis has started to suspect something, because it's kind of odd when your kitten goes for takeout burgers and brings back an extra one. Mavis thinks that one of her kittens is on a school trip, and Naya thinks the same thing. It has worked out great for all cats, at least so far.

Image above - Juliet, resting before her big mission.

Juliet left late yesterday, and she has not been seen since. Mavis has been itching to go out and buy some fresh cabbage, so when Stripy offered to watch her kittens for a couple hours, Mavis accepted in the blink of an eye. Mavis's kittens were a little worried, however, about Naya's kitten in their closet. They quickly told him where they were going and to not do anything to mess up the room. However when they got back, all bedding was gone from the room. And when they looked in the closet, there was Naya's kitten, taking a nap on all of the bedding. Mavis's kittens were too tired to be angry, so they went into the closet and closed the door. Sleeping in the closet would have to do for tonight.

Mavis's kittens were awakened by a commotion in the living room, so they went outside. Naya's kitten even peeked around the doorframe to see out. In the living room Juliet was collapsed on the living room couch, breathing hard as if she had run miles. She was ranting about how she saw the weapon tested on an abandoned building. The building was incinerated. But, the weapon's weakness was inside the hole where the cannonball shot out. There was some carefully designed machinery in there, and that was where the machine was at its weakest.

“Judging by Juliet’s description of this weapon, we don’t want to go anywhere near it.”

- RUDY AND JUDY, WHO AGREE ON THIS ONE THING

Mavis told Annie and her friends about what they had learned, and they planned for an attack 2 days from now. They would attack Lemon while his machine was still getting ready, because Juliet said it looked incomplete. Hopefully, it wouldn't be too late to fight. Lemon needed to stop fighting, or the cats would make him.

Subscribe again to hear about the attack and more stories!

Image above - Juliet, bedraggled and exhausted after her long and tiring journey to check out Lemon's weapon in progress.