

CATS ILLUSTRATED

Lemon is locked up, and Harvey is feeling bad for him!

Lemon has now been locked up, and most cats are relieved and a little happy. However, Harvey feels bad for Lemon. I mean - they are brothers, and neither would fully like to see the other locked up. They've known each other for too long. Harvey has been resting recently, with North. He needs to recover emotionally, and now his joints ache from his fight with Lemon. His therapy sessions make Harvey feel better, and constant love from North and Makenna is definitely helping Harvey to get back on track. However, he is sometimes seen late at night staring out in the direction of Lemon's prison, as if he wished to see Lemon. He hasn't visited Lemon yet, he isn't ready to see Lemon in a cell, which will possibly be his home for the rest of his life. Harvey and Lemon share a bond, whether they like it or not.

Image above - Harvey, dreaming about the old days when he and Lemon played together until the sun went down in their youth.

Annie and her friends have left to help bring the falcons back together, but they might be back later. However, there is a more pressing matter for cats. Who will become the leader of the cats now? Well, there are a few candidates. The cat population chose out of many cats 3 candidates. Mavis, Harvey, and Coffee. Surprisingly to some cats however, Mavis and Harvey immediately both said that Coffee should be the leader. Mavis said that she would love to be head of guard, but not the leader. Harvey said that he was too old for the job but would be happy to be the director of therapy for Coffee. Cats didn't argue with Harvey and Mavis's decisions - They agreed with what Harvey and Mavis expressed.

When Naya heard that Lemon had been defeated, she came back with her kittens and one of Mavis's kittens. Mavis came to greet them, but stopped cold as she noticed her kitten sneaking back to the house. Naya's kitten was sneaking too, so they both made a run for it. However, Mavis and Naya are fast, and they caught up with their kittens in no time flat. The kittens looked a little guilty, but Mavis's kitten felt better because she was $100, 3 new video games, and a coupon for a free slushee richer. Also, Naya's kitten had done a good job spreading the rumor that Mavis's kitten was a cool cat. Mavis's kitten used some money for sunglasses just in case.

Image above - Harvey, congratulating Coffee about being elected the new leader of the cats!

“Ahh. It's nice to have a break from fighting bad cats like Lemon - and it is so great to have Naya back here!”

- MAVIS, WHO HAS PLANS FOR A VACATION

Even though Naya and Mavis were annoyed with their kittens, they were still very happy to see each other. However, that truce was broken when Naya said that she now had more followers than Mavis on CatTube, 2,004 to 1,694. However, Mavis just smiled and pressed the post button on her catPhone to post a video that she had obviously been saving for this minute. And suddenly, her followers level jumped to 2,694.

Subscribe again for more on the best stories about cats!