

---

CATS ILLUSTRATED

---

Lunch, one of White's second litter has returned!

Yesterday, a Siamese cat and her kittens were seen wandering the streets near Judy's house. Judy saw her, and immediately took her inside. Her kittens were cold, and the cat was very tired and hungry. After some food, a hot drink, and a soft bed was set up, the cat told Judy her story.

Image above - Lunch, with her kittens.

---

She was 2 years old, and was born in a forest. She was 1 out of 3 cats in her litter, with White, their mother. Judy gasped when the cat told them about White. White was her mother, making Judy, Mavis, Rudy, Naya, and Stripy all sisters with this cat. The cat's name was Lunch, and she ran away at an early age after White started drinking. Her brother and sister were still wandering, for all she knew, because she couldn't find them when White died. Lunch ran away, became part of a gang, but left when they tried to hurt kittens out of spite for another cat. Then, she met Jake. He was lovely, and his vibrant pelt was a shade of orangey red. She had kits with Jake, but she couldn't stay. She left one of her kittens with him, the one that looked just like him. His name was Rusty.

Then, Lunch came here. That was the end of the story. However, Judy was thunderstruck. She called all of the cats she knew and told them about Lunch. Soon, there were at least 2 cars, a scooter, 3 bikes, a go cart, and a buggy that made a noise like and smelled like a fart. All of the cats wanted to see Lunch, but Judy only let in a couple of cats at a time. Lunch's kittens didn't stay asleep for long, and soon Lunch had to stay around them to keep them from mewling. Cats asked Lunch questions about White and her family, and Mavis admitted that White looked slightly pregnant when she left her and her sisters. All of Mavis's sisters stared at her in shock. They had never heard anything like this from Mavis's description of life with White.

After a while, Lunch started complaining and Judy kicked everyone out and asked Lunch to stay the night. Lunch readily agreed, but found it hard to sleep because of the cats pressing their eyes up to the glass of Judy's windows to catch another glance of this mystery mama cat Lunch.

"I have 6 sisters and a brother now, if Lunch is telling the truth. New targets..."

- NAYA, WHO'S PLANNING SOMETHING

up.

Subscribe again for more on Lunch and her story!

Image above - Lunch, helping herself to some food while Judy makes calls.

Judy is proud to welcome Lunch into her home. Lunch will be able to stay as long as she needs until she finds somewhere good to live. Judy recommends a certain complex of bush houses nearby. The neighbors are nice, and the houses are cheap, but warm and dry. The perfect place for someone who's just starting