

CATS ILLUSTRATED

Wilbur Spots is a thief!

After stealing a massive amount of money from Rudy's bank account, Wilbur Spots is now considered a thief. The money totaled nearly 100,000, and Rudy is devastated and furious. She has called Juliet, but Juliet says that Wilbur Spots has been missing for the past 25 hours. Rudy tells Juliet what has happened, and Juliet believes her. It's a hard truth, but you can't ignore evidence. Also, in this recent event, Rudy and Judy have forgotten about their quarrel and Judy has decided to help Rudy get her money back.

Image above - Blackspots III (left), Wilbur Spots (middle), Graypelt (right), and Juliet (you know which one she is).

"I know this isn't the best idea for tracking your kittens, but I put a GPS tracker on Wilbur Spots," says Juliet, turning red. "However, it has been incredibly useful. I have found out that he is hiding out in the mall. It's massive, and it will take a long time to find him in there. However, he can't know that we are on to him." Juliet chokes up at the thought of her kitten getting arrested. She knows that this is serious. She also knows that Wilbur Spots may go to a Juvenile detention center. But he needs to return Rudy's money.

"The mall is quite big," North, a multi species behaviorist muses, "it's definitely a good place to hide out. Also, I think Wilbur Spots knows about that fried fish place that has meals to die for," North licked his chops. "And what's even better? You buy 3 Cod combos and put 2 in the freezer for later! A little bake in the oven and you have the meal - at your own home!" North pauses when a reporter whispers something in his ear, "Oh - sorry. I got off topic. Well, Wilbur Spots shouldn't be too hard to track with that GPS on him. I mean - Juliet put it in a place that Wilbur Spots would never try to rip it off. His butt." North whispers the last part, but when you are speaking into a microphone, that's pretty hard to do. However, as he speaks, undercover search teams have pinpointed Wilbur Spots' location at guess where? The Wish For Fish, the fried fish place.

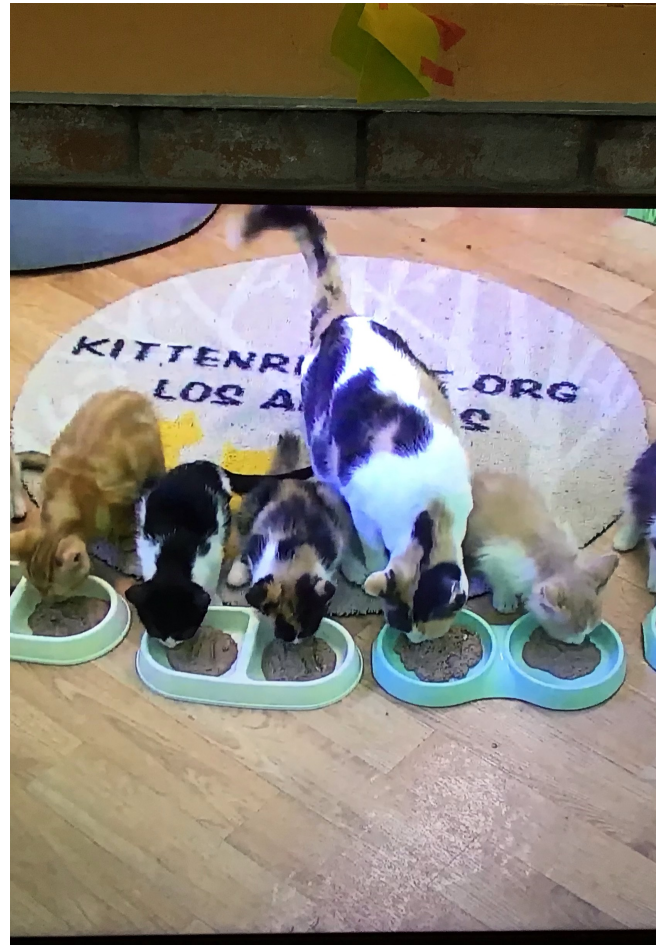

Image above - Rudy, who's eating to practice her chomping skills for when Wilbur Spots has been found and contained.

"I'll expect more of my kittens in the future - this is quite the incident."

- JULIET

Juliet is part of one of the teams that will contain Wilbur Spots. Rudy wanted to be a part of it, but Wilbur Spots would bolt if he saw his victim. Also, Rudy was making quite the racket with her anger. However, she watched on a security camera as Wilbur Spots seemed to fall off his chair. He didn't get up, and Rudy saw his body being dragged away. Sedative, she thought. Clever. In questioning, however, Wilbur Spots said some strange things. "I didn't steal the money!" He pleaded, "I just sold the password! It was to a strange, 3 colored cat! I got the password from Naya by the way! I'm not guilty! I didn't steal money!" Naya, who was watching this, saw the furious look Rudy shot at the camera and didn't feel safe even with her military defenses.

Subscribe again for more on this story!