The “Movie” is still playing!

By today, the movie had already finished. However, we’re going to tell this from right after we ended in yesterday’s issue. Oh wait, let me go get North a tissue. He’s been crying so much since he found out the news about Harvey. Things are looking grim right now. Now, back to the “movie”.

Like a movie, the point of view followed other Harvey as he made his way out of his hut. Outside of the hut were many large buildings, similar to barns. One barn had a door open, and inside there seemed to be massive sugar cubes. Other Harvey muttered to himself about stocks and sugar, which could only mean the massive sugar cubes. Then, Harvey started galloping out of the ring of barns and out into what seemed to be a large, seemingly endless plain. Harvey's mind really was bamboozling, Ice thought as Harvey galloped out onto the plain, covering more than 5 meters with a single leap. The world record for long jump was 4 meters. This was definitely not real.

"When did you make this?" North asked Ice, who jumped in surprise, "I mean, you would have told Harvey if you were making a movie about him... but you couldn't do that in the state he is in now. And I know you didn't tell Harvey anything before he fell ill, or he would be jittery with the responsibility of keeping a secret. Or did you make a movie about Harvey without his permission? Just how was this movie made?"

Ice shot a worried glance at the doctor that he had talked to about Harvey's situation, but they just put their paws up and stepped back, which meant that they wanted to stay out of this. Ice took a deep breath, let it out, and then confessed to North about Harvey's predicament. "So," Ice started, "Harvey isn't dead." North gasped in astonishment, but kept listening. "Harvey is in a state that could be described as worse - he is trapped in his own mind. This is because the thief cat infected him with American red flower nectar, and now half of Harvey's mind has turned evil, dark, and most of all, infected. The good side of Harvey's mind must defeat the bad side, for Harvey to recover. If Harvey's version of himself is defeated in his mind, Harvey will forever stay as he is now, with only a faint pulse that is only detectable in one part of Harvey's body, but seemingly dead on the outside. Also, If you haven't guessed already, the "movie" that I am showing you is not a movie. It is projected from a monitor that is transmitting directly from Harvey's mind. Yes North, we are watching Harvey fight to win or lose." North, Makenna, and Naya were speechless. Then, North started cheering. "Harvey isn't dead! Harvey isn't dead!" Yet...

"I knew it! Harvey still has a chance to fight survive, and wake up, alive!"
