
CATS ILLUSTRATED

The thief cat seems to have vanished!

As Rudy and Judy were treated by medics, Ice, Rice, and Rice jr. were getting nowhere at all. They had been driving for a little over 2 hours, and there was no sign at all of the thief cat. They and Harvey's body seemed to have disappeared off the face of the earth. This was bad, because no cat could know how Harvey was doing in the battle against his mind. Harvey could be winning, but the thief cat could just infect him all over again and make Harvey have to defeat his own mind for the second time. If this went on and on for too long, Harvey's mind would crack with the pressure of generating new monsters and having to fight them. It really was a mind bending affair.

However, a certain change of events occurred as Ice, Rice, and Rice jr. drove around the countryside, having no idea what to do. A hooded figure came into the hospital, dragging a sack behind them. When they reached the place where North was waiting with some doctors, Makenna, and Naya, the hooded figure pushed back their hood to reveal the face of the thief cat. North gasped, but the thief cat tried to calm him. "This is Harvey," the thief cat told North, opening the sack to reveal the limp body of Harvey, a bit dirty but okay. "Harvey!" North exclaimed, and put his front legs under Harvey's belly, "A little help here," North asked, as he tried in vain to lift Harvey off the ground. Makenna and Naya pitched in with 3 of the doctors and just managed to lift Harvey and put him back into the machine. When North turned back around to thank the thief cat for their surprising change of heart, there was no cat in the place where the thief cat had been.

As the doctors set up the machine to project from Harvey's mind again, Makenna called Ice, Rice, and Rice jr. and told them that the thief cat had brought in Harvey's body with a change of heart. "Were they properly questioned," Ice asked, still a bit suspicious of this "change of heart". "No," Makenna told him, "they disappeared before anyone could do anything." Ice turned around the car and started driving back toward the hospital, a sinking feeling starting to develop in his belly. Why would the thief cat just bring in Harvey? Unless that wasn't really Harvey...

The "movie" was just about to start again. Suddenly, the screen showed Harvey, with a large sugar sword in hand, jumping off a cliff, sword pointed down, and then falling, falling, falling, and finally, imbedding his sword into the heart of a massive creature. Then, there was a blinding light, and the movie showed a camera of the top of the inside of the machine. Harvey was awake.
