
CATS ILLUSTRATED

Annie and Grinnell are reunited again!

As of today, June 19 2021, Annie and Grinnell are reunited again. Police cats have been sent out to find Redwood and Poppy and put them where they belong. Jail. However, both Redwood and Poppy were not found. Lunch was taken to the hospital, where she is getting treatment for a severe concussion and a head wound. However, she will live. Many cats are very relieved about this.

Image above - Annie, in her nest.

North, a multi species behaviorist, has some thoughts on the whole Redwood and Poppy matter. "If Poppy was willing to kill her father, I would want her in jail," North has noted, "Also, Lunch is in the hospital with a severe concussion and a head wound. Poppy caused this, and it could be classified as assault. From what I'm hearing, Poppy is facing some other charges, too. If she's free to roam, that's not good for falcons or cats."

Harvey, also, has other thoughts on the matter. "I know how to test if Poppy is good," Harvey is saying, excited at his own idea, "a good person wouldn't refuse a sugar cube. If Poppy takes the sugar, that means she's good!" North has now ushered Harvey out of the interview room so he doesn't spout anymore not so useful ideas. There is also evidence that sugar is not what tells a good cat from a bad cat.

As some cats worry about Poppy and Redwood, other cats are still worried about the terrorist who is bombing places. They have now bombed 11 places, and killed 14 cats. Another 13 are injured, and police are starting to get serious about finding this terrorist. In fact, some police officers are encouraging cats to shoot at unrecognized planes. However, this was not recommended by the police chief. They have said that cats should report any sightings of the bombing plane to authorities immediately. Already, the plane has been sighted 2 more times. One time, a cat took a shot at it. The shot missed.

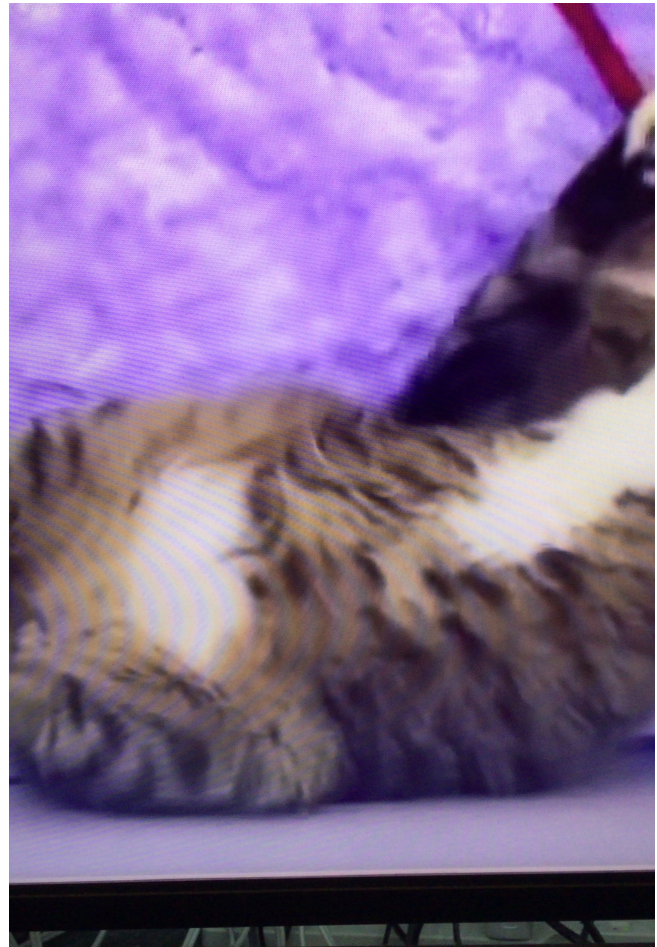

Image above - Harvey, who's new motto is, "if there's something wrong, fix it with sugar."

"Lunch is in an above ground hospital - I fear for her safety."

- JUDY, WHO HAS STARTED PREPARING FOR "DOOMSDAY"

Grinnell has thanked Lunch in the hospital for helping him get Annie back. Lunch is unhappy about her concussion, but she knew it was worth it. Redwood and Poppy would have overpowered Grinnell. However, Grinnell has left the hospital and his translator behind for the moment. He may be back, but not soon.

The bomber cat watched in disgust as cats on the news kept saying how terrible these bombings were. Soon cats will agree that the bombings were necessary, the bomber cat thought, just wait.

Subscribe again for more attacks!