Is Naya going to go clean?

As there have been so many issues of bad news, we thought it might be nice to take a break and talk about something a bit amusing. Right now, Naya is contemplating whether she wants to go clean. Most cats think, “Naya, she couldn’t live without crime.” However, Naya has expressed reasons about why she should go either way. For example, Naya thinks that the grocery store’s rule for her (she must be accompanied by an employee while shopping) might go away if she went clean and stopped trying to steal things. However, Naya also knows that there is no better thrill than making a getaway from an angry shop owner or running as fast as she could from annoyed police officers.

Mavis thinks that Naya should go clean. Mavis knows that she will sleep a lot easier if she isn't praying that Naya doesn't chose the night to break in. Mavis is sometimes so sleepy, that she pours coffee instead of milk into her kittens' cereal bowls. This has not gone well, as cereal is definitely not meant to go in coffee. However, Stripy has different thoughts on whether Naya should go clean. Stripy thinks that Naya's crimes have made her put her all into every casserole that she makes, good or bad. No cat fully understands what that means, but most cats have never gotten a degree from studying casseroles in college like Stripy.

Naya, though, while her sisters fight about whether they think she should go clean or not, has eyes only for Rebecca. You see, Rebecca appeared anonymously in a photo showing an example of kitten brutality. Now, Naya respects Rebecca and is asking her for help. Naya wants Rebecca's thoughts on whether she should go clean or not, because if Rebecca was in a kitten brutality photo, Naya thinks 2 things - 1, Rebecca must be a criminal, and 2, Naya wants Rebecca to teach Naya to do what she was doing in the photo (pinning a kitten down with her front paws). Rebecca wants nothing to do with Naya however, and has put her catPhone on silent after Naya got her number and called over and over again for 2 hours at midnight.

"If pinning a kitten down counts as kitten brutality, I could probably be arrested for what I do!"

- JUDY, WHO'S PANICKING A BIT

and Judy recieved an anonymous call. Rudy picked, up, and then, with horror, realized that she was talking to the cat who had shot her.
