
CATS ILLUSTRATED

Judy is not getting better!

Ever since the incident where Sam chose not to forgive Judy quite yet, she has been more depressed than ever. One of the hospital staff caught and stopped Judy when she tried to use a breathing tube around her neck. It was either from the urge to hurt herself, or possibly suicidal. Max got very worried after that, and made sure that himself of one of Judy's kittens were at her side at all times. Judy would not commit suicide on Max's watch.

Image above - Judy, who is still very depressed.

Doctors say that Judy's condition is just getting worse and worse. She is getting dehydrated, she is starving - Judy hasn't had anything to eat in 4 and a half days, and only had one drink of water yesterday. Today, the hospital staff will connect Judy with a feeding tube if she does not eat anything. All cats are feeling horrible - Judy is such a good cat, and she doesn't deserve this. Anyone wouldn't.

As of now, Judy has just been placed on a feeding tube that will supply her food and water to keep her healthy. She'll get it in little bits, as she's eaten so little in the past days that she might throw it all back up. However, this has not been the most concerning thing happening. Sam has very recently been moved to a more concluded cell, as their other cell's windows have broken eggshells on them and tomatoes that cats threw, demanding that Sam help Judy by forgiving her. This isn't the way you should ask anyone anything, and Sam is not feeling a very strong urge to forgive Judy.

Another close call shook Max and the hospital staff up. Judy said that she wanted to eat some food by herself, and Max brought in a platter of Judy's favorite food. However, he had forgotten about the knife and fork that were on the tray. And by the time he realized, it was too late. Judy grabbed the knife, and with a cry of despair, plunged it toward her chest. One of the hospital staff punched the knife out of Judy's hands with amazing reflexes (even for a cat). Judy started crying again, while Max and the hospital staff looked at each other and realized that they'd caused and then stopped a suicide. Judy didn't get to eat on her own after that incident, no matter how much she begged.

“I didn't want to say this publicly, but Judy is running out of time.”

- ONE OF THE HOSPITAL STAFF, WHO JUST SAID THIS PUBLICLY

help out by trying to get Judy to come to her house and her backyard arcade, and Lunch is sending Judy pumping - up trampoline videos.

Subscribe again!

Image above - Makenna, who hopes dearly that Judy will get better.