Rudy's defenses are holding up!

No matter how hard Judy or any one of her kittens slammed their weapons into the metal reinforced walls of Rudy's house, they could not break through. But when Rudy's kittens drove them back with shots from their rifles, it gave Rudy and her kittens a chance to attack. Rudy leaped out of an upstairs window with a roar, and her kittens landed in an arrowhead formation behind her. Rudy charged, and moved toward Judy and her kittens. Blows were exchanged, but the arrowhead formation protected Rudy's kittens from the worst of it. However, when Blackspots and Blackspots jr. returned with Rudy jr., who had been sent to retrieve them, Judy and her kittens focused their attack on them. Rudy roared and leaped, axe swinging mightily from side to side. Judy stepped back and parried a blow, club creaking from the sheer force of Rudy's blow. Blackspots, Blackspots jr., and Rudy jr. rushed inside and locked the door, where the triggered some of the other defenses.

Judy and her kittens were confused when Rudy and her kittens put on face masks. But suddenly, a gas seemed to come out of hidden places all around Rudy's yard. Judy and her kittens rubbed their eyes and coughed, reacting to the tear gas that Rudy had installed just in case. Rudy attacked, and easily drove Judy and her kittens back and out of her yard. Rudy quickly went inside, and pumped out any tear gas that had come in. Now, Rudy, Blackspots, and her kittens were safe to plan.

Meanwhile, while Rudy and her kittens planned in comfort, Judy and her kittens plotted, eyes stinging like mad. "I wanna kill Rudy," Judy said, furious, eyes streaming, "we're all going to go as a battering ram against the door of Rudy's house. We'll try to smash through, and then fight Rudy head to head. We have the numbers and the size on our side. Let's go!" Judy's kittens streamed out of the bush they were hiding behind, and formed a line. Judy was in front, and started the charge toward Rudy's metal enforced door.

Rudy and her kittens watched from inside as Judy planned with her kittens. "I think that Judy is going to use a battering ram tactic, Rudy told Blackspots and her kittens, so I think that we need to reinforce the door, and then get in position behind it." Rudy's kittens nodded, and got out some of the weights that Rudy liked to use and put them on a small table in front of the door. Then, they got in an arrowhead fighting wedge with Rudy. Outside, Judy lined up for a charge with her kittens.

Then, she started running. And slammed into Rudy's door. And that was when a police car arrived.
