
CATS ILLUSTRATED

Rudy still doesn't have a functional car!

While this faded into the background a bit, Rudy still does not have a functional car. When it broke down during Hurricane Harvey, Rudy paid it no mind and set the matter aside for later. But now, she is finding it hard to walk around the whole town, and knows she needs to fix her car. However, constant pressure from Judy is not helping, and Rudy is feeling no choice but to fix her car as fast as possible. However, there are no appointments available until Thursday, which feels like forever.

Image above - Rudy, who knows Judy is going to have something to say about this matter.

Many cats can agree that Judy isn't being very "understanding". Judy has already made several nasty comments about the size of Rudy's house, and the fact that her car has broken down. Judy called Rudy some pretty bad names, names that we could get in trouble for repeating. However, Rudy has retaliated, making her kittens throw eggs at Judy's house. Judy made her kittens clean it up, while she plotted revenge right back.

Harvey has offered to take a look at Rudy's car, but she declined the offer. Because Harvey's Jeep has broken down so many times, he decided to learn how to fix one. It broke down yesterday, and when he tried to fix it, Harvey accidentally set the engine on fire. North put it out quickly, and Harvey, very shaken up, called a tow company to tow his Jeep to the repair shop. Rudy thinks that if Harvey tries to help with the matter of her broken car, it may be permanently broken.

For now, Rudy's kittens are hitching rides with their friends to school, and Juliet is letting Rudy borrow her car for the time being. Juliet, Blackpelt, and all of their kittens can ride bikes, so they don't need a car too much. However, Judy snapped a photo of Rudy driving Juliet's car and sent it to the police, with the caption "car thief!". Rudy was tracked and arrested, and was just released with 1,000 dollars for her time, and a lot of apologies. Rudy knows that Judy was behind this, and is plotting some more revenge.

Image above - Judy, who's satisfied with her revenge.

"What? What? What did Judy see!"

- NAYA, WHO HATES CLIFFHANGERS

Rudy has been plotting her revenge for an hour now, and has just told Blackspots and her kittens the plan. We can only hope that it isn't too bad - Rudy and Judy have had huge fights before, ones that nearly killed them both. Also, many of their kittens were hurt in the process.

Judy was very happy herself for getting Rudy arrested, so she didn't notice anything was wrong as she got back to her house. However, the screams of one of her kittens drew Judy's attention. She rushed into the bathroom to see...

Subscribe again to know what Judy saw!