

---

CATS ILLUSTRATED

---

One of Mavis's kittens was bitten by a snake!

Late yesterday, when Mavis's kittens were at a friend's house, one of Mavis's kittens (name was withheld), was bitten by a snake. The bite has been treated, but Mavis is not very happy with Rudy, for not noticing a snake in her yard while kittens were playing. Rudy has accepted that and is going to repay Mavis some how, because she knows how it must feel to be super worried for your kittens.

Image above - Mavis, who's very worried for her kitten.

---

While Mavis worries about her kittens, Lunch is constantly improving. She took a short jog today, and came by to Lunch's Luncheon to say hello. Many cats welcomed her, and worked half an hour there before going back home for rest. However, doctors say that Lunch should be completely better very soon, which is definitely good news for Jake and Lunch's kittens - Lunch will be available to play, and she'll just be there if her kittens or Jake needs her.

Now, back to the issue of the snakebite - Mavis kitten wasn't bitten by a dangerous snake, but the bite hurt and is being treated. The snake was just a common garden snake, and was probably disturbed by Mavis's kitten - provoking a bite. However, the bite was treated and Mavis's kitten is feeling a bit better. However, Mavis is not sure that they were even feeling bad in the first place now, as that kitten is now happily frolicking with their siblings in a sprinkler (kittens like water much better than adult cats).

Rudy and Judy however, are not feeling relieved at all, like Mavis and Jake are. Judy is planning revenge on Rudy after Rudy filled both her bathtubs with water and manure (they still stink like mad), and then pretended to mug her and took her wallet. Judy wants her wallet back, before Rudy can spend all of the money in it - she has already spent some, and Judy is definitely not happy. However, while Judy thinks that Rudy is relaxing after getting revenge, Judy is wrong. Rudy is on edge, and is getting a little paranoid that Judy will try something extreme and that her kittens, Blackspots, or herself might get hurt.

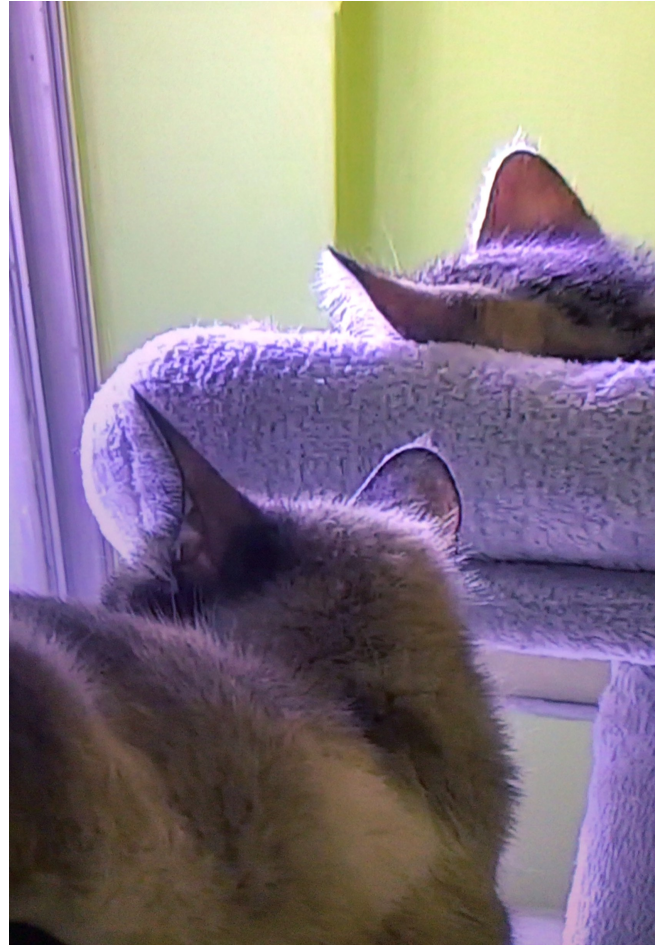

Image above - Lunch, who is going to take a long nap.

“Not too long - you might not wake up.”

- JAKE, TELLING LUNCH THIS

While some cats worry and some feel relieved, there have been a few more strange muggings - the cats mugged all found that their muggers looked similar - just like the other time. But why - why would cats dress up as one cat and then mug four different cats at the same time? What's in it for them? Well, Mavis and the other cats mugged in the first round are getting called back - if these are indeed the same muggers, maybe all 8 of the mugged cats have something in common. But this is odd - very odd. Maybe the oddest thing in a while.

Subscribe again for more on the muggings!