

CATS ILLUSTRATED

The spirit has killed a herd of sheep!

Last night, when a farmer cat was going out to herd their sheep back to their pen, they found the whole herd dead on the ground of the pasture, near the exit as if they had tried to run. An autopsy was performed last night, and the cause of death was determined as failure of all organs. However, the more worrying part was that this attack was much closer to the main city of Pawsville - it was on a farm just outside the city limits. The farmer cat was shaken up, and has been offered condolences for their lost herd, and a coupon for another herd of sheep. We aren't sure that there is even a person who will accept a coupon like that, but at least the farmer cat isn't suing the police department for "by standing the murder of sheep." However, all cats are worried about the spirit, and are thinking about whether they want to leave or stay. Naya is thinking of leaving, but her kittens are making quite the fuss. They are locked in their room with their video games, with their dresser blocking the door. It took all 6 kittens to move the dresser, and Naya definitely couldn't do it. However, if Naya asked Mavis to open the door, Naya's kittens have tied the dresser to the wall with steel cord. No cat knows how Naya's kittens could have gotten steel cord, but they can guess that Naya has a stash somewhere.

Lunch has decided that she wants to stay, but she will be building a secret bunker to stay in. Her kittens and Jake are busy digging out a hole in the ground for the bunker, while Lunch is emptying her shelves of canned foods into a giant sack that she will bring to the basement. She already has 10 large jugs of water, and then some more water bottles. Of course, Lunch has also packed her video game console, and some portable chargers. Now that Jake and her kittens were done digging the hole that they would shelter in, Lunch poured in concrete to coat the outsides. The concrete would need to dry, but that wouldn't be too bad of a problem.

- STRIPY, WHO’S DISAPPOINTED HER COOKING VIDEO IS OFF THE TOP OF TRENDING

Rudy has kept the armor on her house up, because Judy will almost surely retaliate after what Rudy did to Judy in the park (if you want to know more, just look at the front page of catTube), and Rudy is getting paranoid. However, Blackspots and Rudy's kittens have mixed feeling about what she did. Rudy's kittens shrieked in delight when Rudy first told them, but Blackspots shrunk back in horror. He could probably guess how Judy felt, and started writing an apology letter immediately even though he wasn't the one who well - let's not talk about it. Right now there are more important things going on, such as the issue of the spirit. But in her rage, Judy might be as dangerous.
