
CATS ILLUSTRATED

Judy is going bankrupt!

Though she has not mentioned it at all due to fear that Rudy would tease and taunt her about it, Judy is starting to go bankrupt. Her and Max's movie business has seen better days, and Judy is scared that she might have to sell her house. It would pay the debts, but she would have to move into a house more like Rudy's which is not what Judy wants to do.

Image above - Judy, who's not sure what she's going to do.

Rudy has had some things to say about Judy's bankruptcy, and is gleeful at a new subject to humiliate Judy about. Rudy sent Judy a penny with a note, "I know you need it," which did not help Judy. While most of Judy's sisters are worried for her, Rudy is just taking the opportunity to have some more fun. However, Naya has also had some bad things to say on the matter. Just to make the situation worse, she commented on Judy's Flutter account that Rudy had gotten some extra funds recently out of nowhere. That made Judy mad at Rudy, and she stormed to Rudy's house demanding to get her money back. Rudy had gotten some extra funds recently, and it was from a sketchy source - she had won some money in a gambling den, but didn't want to admit that she still was addicted to gambling. However, Judy realized quickly that Rudy did not get the funds, because Rudy was actually confused when Judy knocked a dent in her door.

Naya was targeted next. Judy put a strongly worded comment on Naya's Flutter account, with hashtags such as "cheater" and "liar." Judy then bribed Naya's kittens with candy to steal Naya's wallet for her, but Naya's kittens, learning from their mother, double crossed Judy and told Naya what they had been asked to do. Each kitten got five dollars, and walked away happy with pockets full of money and candy. However, Judy wasn't done with Naya yet, and put a flier on Naya's door that had a picture of a well known comic book criminal and a caption that read "beware." We doubt many cats will pay this any mind, but it felt good to Judy.

Image above - Juliet, who hopes Judy won't go bankrupt.

"I'm happy North put parental controls on Harvey's bank account."

- MAKENNA, WHO KNOWS HARVEY WOULD BUY TONS OF SUGAR OTHERWISE (HARVEY ALREADY DOES, BUT HE'D BUY MORE)

Max got a loan yesterday, for five thousand dollars. This wasn't the first loan, and he and Judy were in a deep hole. One loan had turned into two, and then three, and now Max owed the bank thirty thousand dollars in loans. Lunch gifted Max and Judy some money to help, as her bank account is still quite large after winning the lottery. Rudy thinks that the money was wasted, but then again, this is Rudy thinking about Judy. It's going to be unkind, rude, mean, and many other things that mean bad. That's just how Rudy is. But we, too, hope that Judy doesn't go bankrupt, as of the fact that Judy donates us money every month.

Subscribe again for more on this problem!