

---

CATS ILLUSTRATED

---

Alcohol has been unbanned!

As the police have been under a lot of pressure by liquor stores and wineries, they decided to do a test unbanning. Alcohol is still on probation, and if kittens pull another shenanigan, the ban will come right back. However, a lot of wineries and liquor shops had to turn away customers as they were out of stock of most alcohol. Cats like Juliet bought like 10 bottles of wine and saved them. Juliet's kittens wouldn't dare get those wines, because Juliet has started sleeping with a whip in her paws.

Image above - Juliet, who had a large drink last night.

---

Gambling dens were the main reason that all of the liquor was sold out, because each den bought so much alcohol so that any cat who came there could get a drink. That is why most of the alcohol shops were out of stock, because of the gambling dens. Rudy was at one last night, and proved our theory by stumbling home drunk. Blackspots freaked and made Rudy tell him where she had gone. Rudy said that she was at one of the local gambling dens, and that in total she had lost a couple hundred dollars. She still over all had won more than she had lost, but that was from other times. Blackspots called Harvey and asked him to come over, and make Rudy realize that it isn't a good idea to gamble.

Harvey came over, but after a stop at Lunch's Luncheon for a large soda. Ever since Harvey has tried soda, he has been hitting Lunch up for it. Lunch is okay as long as Harvey pays in full, but Makenna wants Lunch to stop giving Harvey soda even if he pays. Harvey came over and talked to Rudy for a little bit, and said that he would organize a bit of gambling and Rudy would get to play against Judy. Rudy was happy with that, and promised that she wouldn't gamble at one of the gambling dens if she got to gamble against Judy.

However, word of Rudy's situation got out to Judy this morning, who woke up gleeful. Judy called Rudy a drunken gambler on Flutter, and Rudy retaliated by claiming that Judy was the only reason that she started gambling. Judy was a bit shaken, even though Rudy didn't know the truth, that Judy was a gambler. But Rudy could read Judy, and started to make claims that Judy had lost all of her money gambling. Max happened to hear this, and questioned Judy about it. And Judy told Max that yes, she had lost about 5,000 dollars gambling in the past month, and didn't know what to do. Max hugged Judy and told her it would be all right. Rudy, being Rudy, filmed them and then posted it on catTube for cats to see. All of Judy's sisters were horrified, except for Naya, who is happy that Rudy filmed someone secretly.

Image above - Judy, who gambles too but doesn't want to admit it.

“If they have beer in gambling halls, I’m in!”

- GINGERBREAD, ONE OF RUDY'S KITTENS

Subscribe again for gambling addictions!