
CATS ILLUSTRATED

Rudy wants Judy to go on a ride with her at the fair!

Now, on the third day of the county fair, Rudy has asked/dared Judy to go on the scariest roller coaster with her. Rudy made sure that Judy said yes, by hinting that Judy would be a coward if she didn't go near a bunch of cats. Rudy and Judy now have plans for where and when to meet.

Image above - Juliet, who sees no possible way for this to go well.

Meanwhile, Mavis is adoring her new juggling trophy. She won it in the juggling competition that happened yesterday. Her kittens are very proud, because Mavis hasn't won too many trophies in different areas, aside from her Olympic and Wrestling stash that rivals some of even more famous athletes. However, she, too, doesn't think both Rudy and Judy should ride a roller coaster together, as of the high heights that the roller coaster can get too, and what might happen if Rudy felt suddenly that the world would be better without Judy and pushed Judy out of the roller coaster car. I mean, Rudy already thinks that, but she stills sees too much possible humiliating topics in Judy to get rid of her. However, both Rudy and Judy better watch out when the other decides that they're done with this feud and they want to be the only boss in this world.

Now, Rudy and Judy have met up at their spot, and are now in the line. We bribed some attendants and now we have reporters all throughout the line, and a camera in the back seat of the roller coaster, where Rudy and Judy will no doubt sit, because they both think that it is the scariest and that the other will chicken out when they find out what seat they are sitting in. But now, they are getting in their seat, the back, obviously, and the ride is starting up. We will now be reverting to camera view.

"Scared, loser?" Rudy asked Judy, taunt in her voice. "I think that's what scared losers say to make themselves feel better about their sorry lives," Judy retorted. Rudy's face contorted purple with anger, and turned away, front legs crossed. The ride started up, and Rudy and Judy's car started to go up the big lift hill. This roller coaster was VERY high with loop - de - loops in the air, and then a huge drop. Rudy and Judys' car was now around the middle of the lift hill, but was approaching the top, fast.

"I was not screaming. Judy was screaming so loud, you heard her."

- RUDY, WHO ALONG WITH JUDY CLAIM THE SAME THING AGAINST EACH OTHER

broke out of their trance and chased our reporter out of the fair. However, we hire fast reporters on purpose, so Rudy and Judy did not catch them.

Subscribe again for more on this experience!

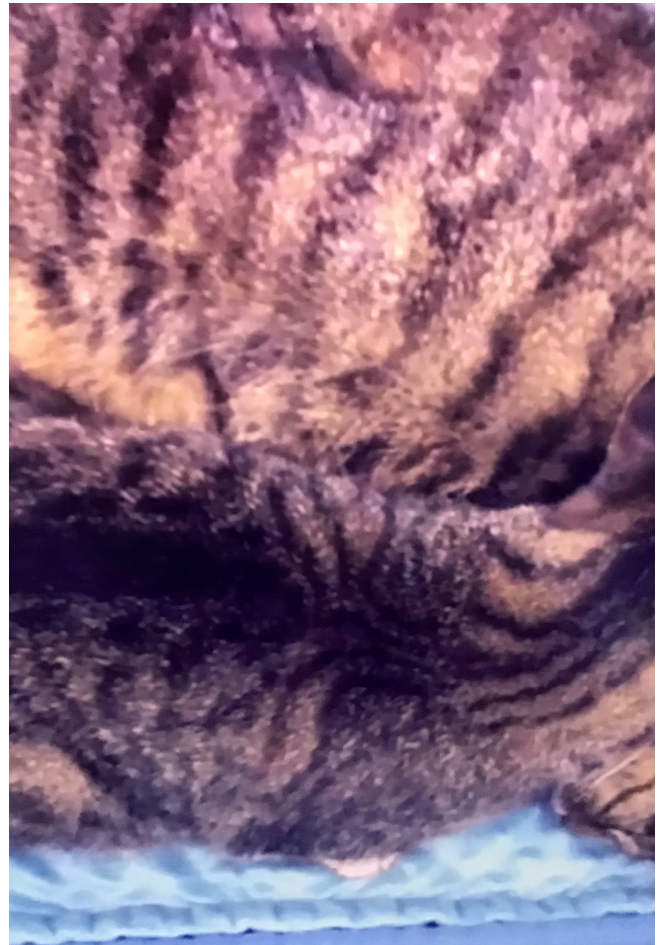

Image above - Harvey, who snuck out for a soda, but is now back under supervision.