

---

CATS ILLUSTRATED

---

A new news organization is making a debut in Pawsville!

Seeing our weakness, a new news organization, The Facts, has opened up in Pawsville. They have gotten a warm welcome from many cats, who seem to be glad for a new source of news. We met the manager of The Facts, and they gave us the impression that they planned to be the only source of news. Ha. We planned the same thing.

Image above - Harvey and North, thinking about the new news organization.

---

Even though we really, really, really didn't want to do this, one of our reporters followed Judy, and then tripped her as she was looking out over a pond. Judy toppled in, and our reporter ran off. We taped it, and when we showed it to Rudy, she made the edits to her book, adding about how we were very helpful, and then promised that she would find some dirt on the manager of The Facts after posting the video of Judy on five social media platforms. That was not a good thing to do, but we are getting desperate. Already, some of our reporters have left, and we are running on a skeleton crew missing some bones.

The Facts have a bit of a different way of posting articles. They do a video version, which is very popular, and then they have these lovely - no, bad online issues with two pages and only two images. They also only have one quote! Talk about bad formatting. We have some reporters out filming the shortages of ice cream in Pawsville, as online news especially in the form of videos, seems to be very popular. However, we are also trying to find dirt on the manager of The Facts. Even just an old school paper that got an F would do. We just have to make it seem like an easy assignment, and then add more errors.

Lunch has some thoughts about the facts. Some of their reporters were surly and were not patient for their orders at Lunch's Luncheon, and they acted like Lunch was in a lower class - the laborers. Lunch was not happy, and has just decided to our delight that Lunch's Luncheon and Lunch herself would support us. That is good, because Lunch is a cat who makes extra large donations.

Image above - Judy, who thinks one of Rudy's kittens tripped her while their mama filmed it all.

“Umm you guys only have two images, two pages and only one quote.”

- NORTH

tripped her by that pond - even if she doesn't kill them, they will have to go into hiding most likely.

We will be working hard to find dirt on the manager of The Facts, and, in case you are wondering, stating this openly in an issue is not a problem as we have realized that we have only about twenty daily readers, and ten are trusted cats and reporters. However, we may lose a reporter when Judy finds out who really Subscribe again for more on “The Facts”.