
CATS ILLUSTRATED

Today is the qualifying rounds of the NTC!

Today, the qualifying rounds of the NTC (National Trampolining Competition) are beginning. Lunch's kittens are getting ready, as they really want to advance from this qualification round. However, there is stiff competition from the other teams of cats, and Lunch's kittens have found out that they are competing against trampolining champions, and even one former winner of the NTC. However, Lunch's kittens are determined to win, and Lunch and Jake will be there to cheer them on from the sidelines.

Image above - Juliet, who'll be tuning in to watch the NTC qualifying round.

Many cats are tuning in to watch this qualifying round, because if Lunch's kittens make it past the qualifying round, they will get an interview where they say where they were born, and where they live, putting Pawsville on the map. And if Lunch's kittens win the competition, cats might come to Pawsville just to see the NTC champions! Many kittens are excited for this, and they will be cheering Lunch's kittens on very strongly.

Lunch and Jake have helped their kittens come up with a trampolining routine that is pretty safe, and that also scores good points. In the qualifying round, only twelve of the twenty participants can advance, as there are only twelve spots in the duels. However, once the duels are done, there will be six teams left that will split into two groups. After another round of competition, the winners of each group face each other in the finale. But Lunch's kittens are only focusing on one thing at a time, and right now they are thinking about how to get past the qualifying round of this tournament.

The hotel that they are staying in is pretty cool, too, with a sauna, multiple pools, a hot tub, and a very fancy lobby. In the rooms, there are two full bedrooms, a large and luxurious bathroom, and many cabinets to store things in. Of course, there are also drinks in the mini-fridges, and Lunch and Jake aren't afraid to take them because the NTC is covering the cost of the hotel and everything that comes with it.

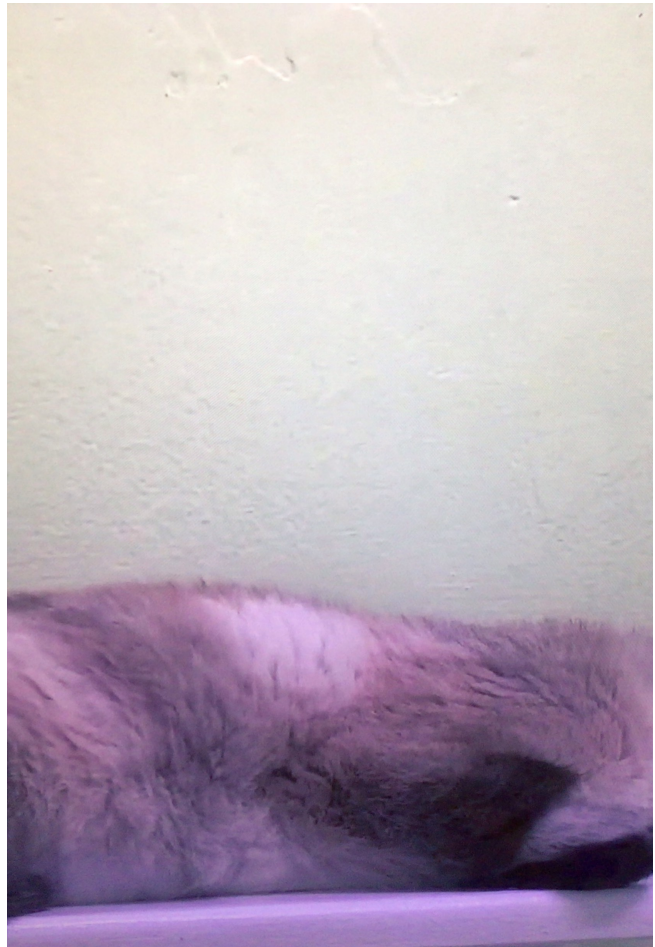

Image above - Lunch, who's found a shelf in the hotel room that's just right for her.

“I’m betting five dollars that Lunch’s kittens don’t make it past the duels.”

- RUDY

The qualifying rounds are starting right now, and Lunch's kittens are getting ready for their turn. We will not be covering this, but we will give a full recap. However, the duels, the semifinal, and the final will be covered, if Lunch's kittens can make it that far. But for now, they have to focus on the qualifying round, and that will be hard enough. We are also going to be watching the competition and rooting on Lunch's kittens, because the local news station gets a lot of attention if a cat in their town becomes famous somehow.

Subscribe again for more on this round!