
CATS ILLUSTRATED

The rest of the NTC is being delayed!

As of the fact that there was a very large bank robbery nearby the Trampoline park, NTC officials have agreed that the National Trampolining Competition will be delayed a week. Cats can take a trip back home, enjoy family time, and relax. However, another fact that you all have been waiting for is about to be revealed — did Lunch's kittens make it past the duels?

Image above - Harvey, who doesn't want this competition to be delayed.

Lunch's kittens did make it past the duels — but only because the other team forfeited when one of their team members landed wrong on the trampoline and sprained their ankle. So technically Lunch's kittens won, but it probably didn't feel very real. However, Lunch, Jake, and their kittens are happy to get a week to go back to Pawsville and recount their adventures to family and friends. Lunch's kittens are now seen as "famous" by some other kittens, and there may be a small parade in their honor. Naya is looking to steal those cute little soaps that a hotel will give out, as they are worth quite a bit of money if they are preserved in perfect condition.

When Lunch got back this morning, she immediately took her kittens and Jake out for lunch at the Wish for Fish. But Lunch also wanted to see how her Luncheon was doing, and if it was holding up without her. Lunch's kittens were craving K4K candy, so they went straight for Harvey's house, saying that they would make him seem like a hero on live TV if he gave them a crazy amount of candy. Harvey agreed, because even Harvey feels like he deserves a bit of fame every now and then. However, Jake has been reading up on the bank robbery that happened yesterday, to see if it is even safe to go back to the Trampoline Competition to keep competing.

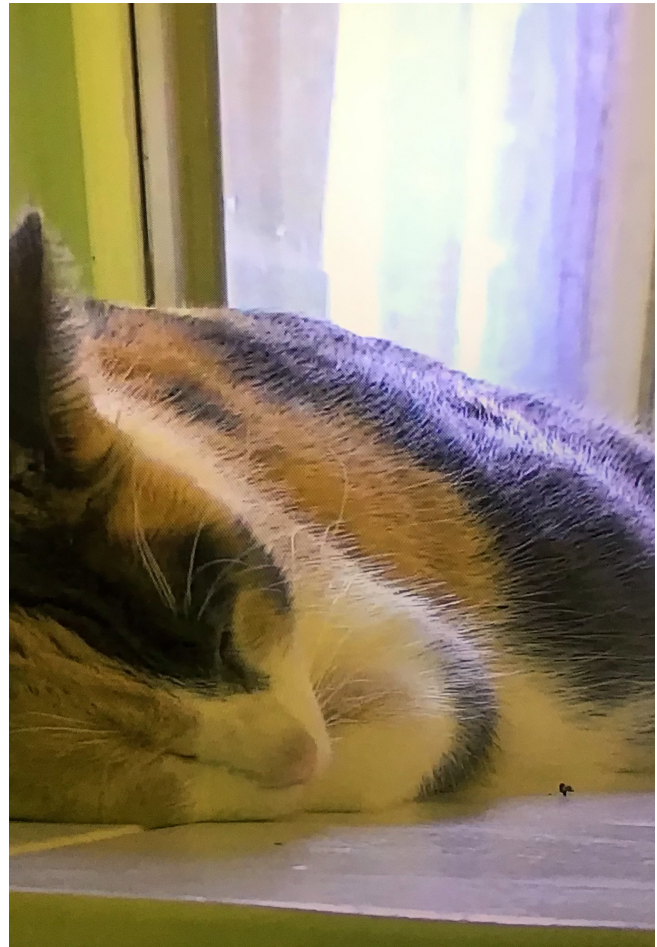

Image above - Juliet, who's spent nights in jail before without her kittens.

Naya has been especially interested in the fact that there was a huge bank robbery. She has always dreamed of completing a heist like that, so Naya has been reading up about all of the details of the bank robbery yesterday, to try and pick up some tips. She found a few good pointers, but Naya still isn't sure that she wants to do this, because she could be sentenced to five years in prison, five years where she couldn't truly be alone with her kittens.

"I'll start with a safe inside Mavis's house, and I'll build from there."

- NAYA, PLANNING HER HEISTS

this possibility yet, but Lunch and Jake will need to tell them soon, to get them ready if Lunch and Jake say that it is not safe to go.

Lunch and Jake will definitely be talking about whether it is safe to go back to the NTC, because the bank robber might still be on the loose there. Lunch's kittens have not heard of Subscribe again for more on this situation!