
CATS ILLUSTRATED

Harvey has left on his camping trip!

As it is Saturday, Harvey is leaving on his camping trip. He will be staying two nights, as Monday is in fact a day off from school for kittens. Rudy, Stripy, Blackspots, their nine kittens, North, Makenna, and Smoke are very excited as well.

Image above - Rudy, who's very excited for this camping trip.

The drive to the campsite is not far, only half an hour. However, the sixteen cats have to take three cars in order to fit all of the gear and all of the cats. But this camping trip will be very fun. However, not all cats are happy. Lunch and Jake are going camping too, but they are only staying one night. Their cabin was not available for them, but they still wanted to go camping.

The decision to go was rushed, and Lunch was only able to book a small camping spot near the bathroom. Lunch, Jake, and their kittens were disappointed not to be picked by Harvey to go camping, so they are trying to go on their own. But it is not looking good right now.

Harvey has just arrived at his campsite, and it is very cool. There is space for three large tents, which is exactly what will be put in that space. There are two fire pits, and two picnic tables. Right now, the adult cats are pitching the tents while all nine kittens are exploring the area around their campsite. There is an excellent view of Lake Scruff, and there are cats ice skating on the edges right now. It is very cold right now at the campground, but the temperature has risen to forty and the lake will probably not be able to be skated on by tomorrow.

Because the temperature is so cold, cats have brought space heaters for each tent and extra blankets along with their sleeping bags. Harvey, even with his thick coat of fur, has brought his thick winter jacket and lots of cozy blankets. Other cats have brought their own things to stay warm, and Rudy has brought a space heater, Stripy decided she wanted to bring a generator, and North has brought his computer just in case he needs to do any work on the camping trip.

Image above - Juliet, sulking about not being able to go camping with Harvey.

“I still need TV while I’m camping!”

- RUDY

Harvey’s group is prepared for this camping trip, though it might be a bit more like a glamping trip. A generator and a space heater are not exactly necessities of camping, but they work just fine when you want light, heat, and TV. In cats’ coolers some of the things you can find include s’mores, marshmallows, hot dogs, and other camping staples. This trip should be a good one, but there is always the possibility that something could go wrong. But hopefully that will not happen, and even if it does, this will still be a very fun camping trip.

Subscribe again for more on this trip!