Naya has been fired from her job!

For some unknown reason, Naya's boss at Taco caT decided to fire her. It may be because Naya stole something, or they may have just wanted a shady cat like Naya out of the Taco caT establishment. Either way, most cats think that Naya's boss made the right choice.

You might think that Naya gets all of her money from stealing, but she needed that Taco caT job. Naya isn't taking it well, and she has told her kittens that they need to save money. That means no more candy, chips, or junk food. But Naya's kittens found a loophole right away, and they have asked Naya if her rule still counts if they get the money by picking pockets.

Naya has said that she doesn't have any problem with that, only that her favorite kind of slushy flavor was strawberry, prompting her kittens to buy her one.

North, who is a regular customer at Taco caT, has gone to talk to the boss to find out what exactly Naya was fired for. The boss started ranting about how Naya slacked off, how she ate tacos she should be serving, and how Naya took her breaks at the times when she was needed the very most. North is now angry at Naya, as it seems very much like she was the cause of being fired from her job, and that she wasn't fired because her boss didn't like her. She was fired because she wasn't trying to work. Naya has confessed to bending the rules a little bit while working at Taco caT, prompting her kittens to drink the strawberry slushy they bought for her.

North has told Naya that she needed to get another job, and that he was going to help her. Right now, North is running through possible job options with Naya. The only one that Naya was interested in was bank clerk, but North ruled that one out right away. However, one other job caught Naya's eye. The other job that Naya found interesting was mechanic. However, before North drove Naya to do the interview, he made her promise that if she got the job, she would only do what was required in the job. Naya promised that she would, and North has now driven her to the interview.

“I'll admit this — I ate more tacos than I served.”

- NAYA, REFLECTING ON HER EXPERIENCE AT TACO CAT

Right now, Naya is doing her interview with the head mechanic at Mechanics and Co. No cat knows how it will go, only that they aren't sure whether they want to go to Mechanics and Co. anymore if Naya is working there. However, it will probably take at least one bad experience to turn cats away, because the second closest mechanic is fifty miles away in another town. But who knows what the threat of Naya will make cats do.
