

---

CATS ILLUSTRATED

---

Snow is finally falling again in Pawsville!

As there has been a sudden drop in temperature in Pawsville, snow has just started falling again! Cats are rejoicing, as the weather forecast predicts that temperatures will stay around twenty degrees and there will be plenty more precipitation.

Image above - Lunch, who is happy to see snow falling again.

---

Lakes have started to freeze over, which will soon hold the opportunity for cats to try out some ice skating. However, most cats want to do some sledding, not try something new, like ice skating. However, different cats aren't sure what they want to do. "I think that ice skating would be really enjoyable," says Rudy, "I like running and jumping at high speeds, and that's what I see when I watch ice skating. I think that when the lake completely freezes over, I'm going to go out and try out some ice skating." However, other cats aren't sure about trying something new. "Just before the warm temperatures hit," says Juliet, "kittens had discovered an incredible sledding hill in the woods. I want to try that hill out when there is enough snow on the ground, and I think there might even be a jump."

Other cats want to try different new things. North and Harvey have both wanted to try out skiing for the longest time, but they haven't been able to because of the lack of snow on the ground. However, because snow is falling again now, North and Harvey have plans to try out skiing next week, and if they like it, the week after that. But not all cats plan to make good use of the snow and ice. Naya has plans to do some ice fishing on the lake, and that means drilling a hole in the ice. Naya will actually do some fishing, but she also hopes that cats ice skating trip on the hole.

Some cats are just fine with the situation of no snow. Kittens have been playing lots of video games, and Lunch's kittens waved off other kittens' offers to help build a snow jump tomorrow, as they wanted to play video games. Lunch's kittens have started playing some of the video games they won in a video game competition, including one that has themselves in it.

"I might do two rounds of ice fishing! Double the fish, double the holes!"

- NAYA

Judy will also be ice skating, to prove that she is much better at it than Rudy, and maybe also trip Rudy a few times on the ice.

Subscribe again for more on snow activities!

Image above - Harvey, who can't wait to try out skiing with North.

Most cats are very excited that there are finally cold temperature and heavy precipitation on the same days, as snow and ice are very fun. Tomorrow, many kittens will be out sledding, Rudy might be ice skating, and Naya will be doing ice fishing early in the morning.