
CATS ILLUSTRATED

Mavis and Juliet have not been getting along recently!

For some reason, Mavis and Juliet have not been getting along recently. Juliet “accidentally” knocked some fruit out of Mavis’s hand at the grocery store yesterday, which was completely unprovoked and unneeded. But today, Mavis was seen putting powder outside of Juliet’s door that marked her as a bad spirit and a cat to stay away from. On top of that, the powder was very special, and it was almost impossible to remove the stain it made.

Image above - Lunch, who doesn’t see why Mavis and Juliet would have anything against one another.

Many cats are bewildered at why Mavis and Juliet would want to go at each other like this. They used to get along very well, but now, they’re almost as bad as Rudy and Judy were. Right now, cats are just trying to keep Mavis and Juliet away from each other, then decide what to do. However, even that won't be easy. Mavis and Juliet have been seeking each other out, just to get their licks in. This is not good, and this blooming feud will have to be put to stop.

Meanwhile, North is getting ready to start his job as a realtor. If you read yesterday's issue, you know the story. He is very excited to see how it goes, as this is a test of his cat-speaking abilities. If the job goes well, North could make a very good salescat in the future, and maybe even appear in ads. But we're getting ahead of the game here, and for now, North should just focus on doing his job well. In fact, Lunch has even looked into making ads for her Luncheon, and if she needs a cat to do some ads, North would probably be available. However, ads cost a lot of money, and Lunch may need another way of advertising her Luncheon.

Right now, Mavis and Juliet are in their own houses, which are being watched. Kittens are being paid to make sure neither Mavis or Juliet leave their houses, but that isn't all there is to it. On Mavis's wish, her kittens paid Rudy's kittens, who were watching their house, to turn a blind eye while Mavis went out to Juliet's house. A large haul of Easter candy and chips were exchanged, and Rudy's kittens abandoned their post to feast on their loot.

"I can't wait to make this feud even bigger!"

- NAYA, WHO HAS BIG PLANS

As you just heard, kittens are being roped into Mavis and Juliet's mischief. Juliet's kittens tried to pay off Lunch's kittens, the kittens guarding their house, but to no avail. However, Juliet's kittens snuck their mama out of the house via suitcase through the back door, which worked just as well. Now Juliet's kittens, their mama, Mavis's kittens, and their mama were running free. With the kind of determination that they have shown, it will be very hard to contain this.

Subscribe again for more fighting!

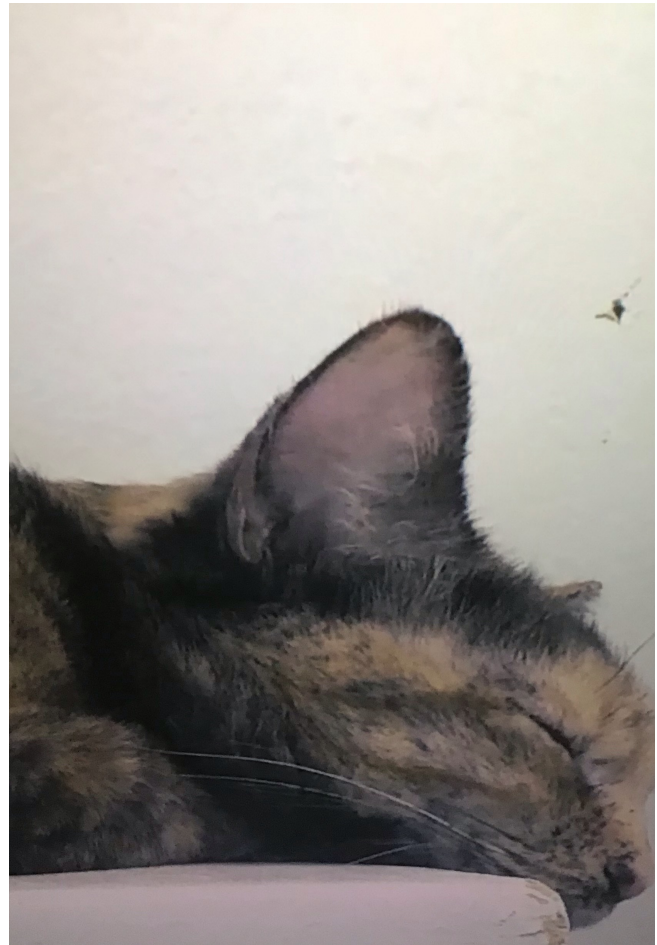

Image above - Judy, who's happy that there's an interesting feud in Pawsville.