
CATS ILLUSTRATED

This new club is making cats crazy!

This club is causing a lot of chaos right now in Pawsville, as cats who went there last night are bragging about how cool the club was. This is making other cats desperate to fill the last few spots for this week in the club. However, some cats are taking time to plan big crimes that will definitely get them into the club next week.

Image above - Harvey, who didn't get into the club yet but is desperate to.

The police are not happy about this club, but it is out of their hands. A full scale riot could happen if they shut it down, which is not what they want to happen. A few police officers have even been in the club, as it is easy for them to commit a crime and then pretend to be investigating it. All cats in Pawsville are being roped in, which is good for Naya, who collects a small fee from all cats who enter the club. She is making loads of money, and will do so in the future as well with this level of popularity.

Some kittens have even gotten into the club, like Mavis's kittens. They are bragging to their classmates at school about how they went to a cool club and even drank beer. This is making their classmates jealous, which means that there will be even more cats competing to get into this club. Juliet's kittens know that their mama got in, and they want to live up to her new standards by getting into the club too. Rudy's kittens are thinking of robbing someone's house, and even Stripy's kittens are thinking of stealing the answer key to a big test that is coming up. That would definitely get them into the club, as Naya could even make some extra money selling copies of that answer key to kittens.

Even Harvey wants to get into this club, and he is thinking about what crime he could commit to get into it. North also wants to get in, but he doesn't want to set an example for Harvey. However, Harvey's mind is already made up, and there isn't going to be any stopping him from trying to get into the club. In fact, it might work out better if North was his partner in crime, as they might be able to pull off something bigger if they were together.

Image above - Lunch, who is plotting ways to get into the club.

“I could probably charge a much larger entry fee!

- NAYA, WHO IS LOOKING FOR WAYS TO MAKE MORE MONEY

Cats are going crazy over this club, as it has exploded in popularity and you seem cool just by being in it. Many cats want in, though there are only a few spots left for this week at the club. If cats don't get in though, we know that they will be trying twice as hard next week when the club's spots are open for claiming again. And by then, kittens will also be ready to commit crimes and impress Naya. The competition will be much more intense, with more cats fighting for spots.

Subscribe again for more on competition for this club!