Harvey is packing up his house!

As he is moving, Harvey has started to pack up his house. It is a hard thing to do, pack up your things and move away from the only house you have ever known. Harvey isn't moving quite yet, but his new house will be built and ready in a month or two.

Harvey is especially sad to leave his therapy office, as he loves hanging out there and giving therapy sessions. Harvey will have a new therapy office in his new house, but it won't be the same. North is the one tasked with packing up Harvey's therapy office, as Harvey is feeling too sad to do it. Some cats think that Harvey shouldn't move, because then he wouldn't have to leave his therapy office and his house, but Harvey knows that his house is very old and has a lot of problems. More would emerge if he stayed, which would not be good.

Cats know that this is a big step for Harvey, and Lunch made him some special sugar fries when he came to her luncheon. Stripy found the time to bake Harvey a casserole, and Mavis gave him a cabbage to hug. However, Harvey is not the only cat who is sad about moving. North loved his office, no matter how small or cluttered it was. He even loved the slide connecting it and Harvey's therapy office, which Harvey traveled in on especially hot or cold days. Smoke and Reposado loved their rooms in Harvey's house, and they would miss the house just as much as Harvey would.

Kittens are also paying tributes to Harvey's house, along with his therapy office. They ate so much candy and sugar there, and they had very good memories from it. Kittens are sad that they might never eat sugar in those same spots again. Harvey's house has attracted a lot of cats, as almost every cat in Pawsville has been over some time for something. In fact, Harvey is already getting offers to buy his house, though he didn't even say he was going to sell it yet. However, it seems that selling might be the way to go, as the money from selling his house might help with the cost of buying Harvey's new one.

Losing Harvey's house may affect cats for some time, though there is a good chance another cat in Pawsville will buy it. They might not even live in it, just keep the property for sentimental reasons. Harvey might even get to keep using his therapy office for sessions, which might work better than a basement room
